FINAL ORDER

¶1 The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision in MSPB Docket No. DC-3443-18-0287-I-1, which dismissed for lack of jurisdiction and,

² A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117(c).

in part, as barred by res judicata his appeal alleging that the agency unlawfully tampered with evidence during an earlier Board appeal and during processing of a case before the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. On petition for review, the appellant argues, inter alia, that the Board does have jurisdiction over his appeal and that none of his claims is barred by res judicata. The appellant also has filed a petition for review of the initial decision in MSPB Docket No. DC-3443-18-0288-I-1, which dismissed for lack of jurisdiction his appeal challenging a ruling made by an administrative judge of the agency's Personnel Security Appeals Board. He also argues, inter alia, that his appeal should not have been dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Generally, we grant petitions such as these only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in these appeals, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petitions for review. Therefore, we DENY the petitions for review and AFFIRM the initial decisions, which are now the Board's final decisions.³ 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113\(b\).

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS⁴

You may obtain review of this final decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(a)(1). By statute, the nature of your claims determines the time limit for seeking such review and the appropriate forum with which to file. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b). Although we offer the following summary of available appeal rights, the Merit Systems Protection Board does not provide legal advice on which option is most appropriate for your situation and the rights described below do not represent a statement of how courts will rule regarding which cases fall within their jurisdiction. If you wish to seek review of this final decision, you should immediately review the law applicable to your claims and carefully follow all filing time limits and requirements. Failure to file within the applicable time limit may result in the dismissal of your case by your chosen forum.

Please read carefully each of the three main possible choices of review below to decide which one applies to your particular case. If you have questions about whether a particular forum is the appropriate one to review your case, you should contact that forum for more information.

(1) Judicial review in general. As a general rule, an appellant seeking judicial review of a final Board order must file a petition for review with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, which must be received by the court

However, the right to a speedy and public trial as provided for in the 6th Amendment to the Constitution applies to criminal prosecutions, and therefore any such right is not implicated in a proceeding before the Board. Biddle v. Department of the Treasury, 63 M.S.P.R. 521, 529 (1994) (finding that 6th Amendment rights were not implicated because the individual was not subjected to a custodial interrogation). Moreover, the Board's procedures do not allow for summary judgment. Savage v. Department of the Army, 122 M.S.P.R. 612, ¶ 46 (2015), overruled in part by Pridgen v. Office of Management and Budget, 2022 MSPB 31, ¶¶ 23-25. Therefore, the appellant's motions are denied.

⁴ Since the issuance of the initial decision in this matter, the Board may have updated the notice of review rights included in final decisions. As indicated in the notice, the Board cannot advise which option is most appropriate in any matter.

within 60 calendar days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(1\)\(A\).

If so, and your judicial petition for review “raises no challenge to the Board’s disposition of allegations of a prohibited personnel practice described in section 2302(b) other than practices described in section 2302(b)(8), or 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D),” then you may file a petition for judicial review either with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.⁵ The court of appeals must receive your petition for review within 60 days of the date of issuance of this decision.
