DATE: April 17, 2026

THIS FINAL ORDER IS NONPRECEDENTIAL¹

Avelino Victor Abeijon, Indian Land, South Carolina, pro se.

FINAL ORDER

The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which reversed a reconsideration decision of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) finding that the appellant has received an overpayment in annuity benefits under the Federal Employees' Retirement System on the basis that OPM had failed to meet its burden of proving the existence and amount of the overpayment. On petition for review, the appellant avers that OPM has collected the overpayment in violation of the administrative judge's interim relief order and requests that the Board order OPM to comply. He also requests an increase in his monthly annuity amount to account for his cost of living and has submitted updated financial information. OPM has not responded to the appellant's petition for review. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review and AFFIRM the initial decision, which is now the Board's final decision. 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113(b).

The appellant does not challenge, and we find no reason to disturb, the administrative judge's finding that OPM failed to meet its burden of proving the existence and amount of the overpayment. To the extent that the appellant is challenging the current amount of his monthly annuity, Petition for Review (PFR) File, Tab 1 at 5, Tab 2 at 5-6, the appellant can request a decision from OPM on the issue in question and file a separate Board appeal once he receives a final decision from OPM, see Ramirez v. Office of Personnel Management, 114 M.S.P.R. 511, ¶ 7 (2010) (stating that the Board generally lacks jurisdiction to hear an appeal of a retirement matter before OPM has issued a final or reconsideration decision on the matter).

Concerning the appellant's challenge to OPM's compliance with the interim relief order, OPM did not submit a response as required by the Board's regulation at 5 C.F.R. § 1201.116(b). PFR File, Tab 1 at 5, Tab 2 at 5, Tab 4. Nevertheless, the Board's regulations do not provide for petitions for enforcement of interim relief orders; such petitions only apply to final Board decisions. Bryant v. Department of the Army, 2022 MSPB 1, ¶ 6; 5 C.F.R. § 1201.182(a). Thus, any noncompliance by OPM on interim relief would now be moot by virtue of our final decision ordering relief. See Smith v. Department of the Army, 2022 MSPB 4, ¶ 12.

ORDER

We ORDER OPM to reverse its March 13, 2023 reconsideration decision finding an overpayment debt of $2,260.00. OPM must complete this action no later than 20 days after the date of this decision.

We also ORDER OPM to tell the appellant promptly in writing when it believes it has fully carried out the Board's Order and of the actions it has taken to carry out the Board's Order. We ORDER the appellant to provide all necessary information OPM requests to help it carry out the Board's Order. The appellant, if not notified, should ask OPM about its progress. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.181(b).

No later than 30 days after OPM tells the appellant it has fully carried out the Board's Order, the appellant may file a petition for enforcement with the office that issued the initial decision on this appeal if the appellant believes that OPM did not fully carry out the Board's Order. The petition should contain specific reasons why the appellant believes OPM has not fully carried out the Board's Order, and should include the dates and results of any communications with OPM. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.182(a).

(2) Judicial or EEOC review of cases involving a claim of discrimination. This option applies to you only if you have claimed that you were affected by an action that is appealable to the Board and that such action was based, in whole or in part, on unlawful discrimination. If so, you may obtain judicial review of this decision—including a disposition of your discrimination claims—by filing a civil action with an appropriate U.S. district court (not the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit), within 30 calendar days after you receive this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b)(2); see Perry v. Merit Systems Protection Board, 582 U.S. 420 (2017). If so, and your judicial petition for review “raises no challenge to the Board’s disposition of allegations of a prohibited personnel practice described in section 2302(b) other than practices described in section 2302(b)(8), or 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D),” then you may file a petition for judicial review either with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.³ The court of appeals must receive your petition for review within 60 days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b)(1)(B).

If you submit a petition for judicial review to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, you must submit your petition to the court at the following address:
