FINAL ORDER

The appellant has filed a petition for review of the compliance initial decision, which denied his petition for enforcement of the parties' settlement agreement. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review.

¹ A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117(c).

Therefore, we DENY the petition for review and AFFIRM the initial decision, which is now the Board's final decision.² 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113(b).

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS³

You may obtain review of this final decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(a)(1). By statute, the nature of your claims determines the time limit for seeking such review and the appropriate forum with which to file. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b). Although we offer the following summary of available appeal rights, the Merit

² The appellant argues on petition for review that the agency induced him into signing the settlement agreement by making promises regarding retirement benefits and health benefits and that he would not have entered into the agreement otherwise. Compliance Petition for Review File, Tab 1. A settlement agreement may be set aside or voided only on the basis of certain limited grounds, including fraud, coercion, or mutual mistake. Harris v. Department of Veterans Affairs, 99 M.S.P.R. 609, ¶ 3 (2005). However, it is well settled that an attack on the validity of a settlement agreement must be made in the form of a petition for review of the initial decision dismissing the appeal as settled and not in a petition for enforcement. Hatcher v. Department of Justice, 76 M.S.P.R. 97, 99 (1997). Thus, to the extent that the appellant seeks to attack the validity of the settlement agreement, he may file a petition for review of the initial decision dismissing his original appeal as settled. The Board makes no finding regarding whether such a petition for review would be timely or, if untimely, whether good cause exists for its untimeliness.

³ Since the issuance of the initial decision in this matter, the Board may have updated the notice of review rights included in final decisions. As indicated in the notice, the Board cannot advise which option is most appropriate in any matter.

Systems Protection Board does not provide legal advice on which option is most appropriate for your situation and the rights described below do not represent a statement of how courts will rule regarding which cases fall within their jurisdiction. If you wish to seek review of this final decision, you should immediately review the law applicable to your claims and carefully follow all filing time limits and requirements. Failure to file within the applicable time limit may result in the dismissal of your case by your chosen forum.

Please read carefully each of the three main possible choices of review below to decide which one applies to your particular case. If you have questions about whether a particular forum is the appropriate one to review your case, you should contact that forum for more information.

If so, and your judicial petition for review “raises no challenge to the Board’s disposition of allegations of a prohibited personnel practice described in section 2302(b) other than practices described in section 2302(b)(8), or 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D),” then you may file a petition for judicial review either with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.⁴ The court of appeals must receive your petition for
