Appellant,

DOCKET NUMBER
AT-0752-23-0247-I-1

v.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE,
Agency.

DATE: June 6, 2024

THIS FINAL ORDER IS NONPRECEDENTIAL<sup>1</sup>

A. Christina Bronner-Stafford, Smyrna, Georgia, for the appellant.

Cleora S. Anderson, Smyrna, Georgia, for the agency.

BEFORE

Cathy A. Harris, Chairman
Raymond A. Limon, Vice Chairman
Henry J. Kerner, Member

FINAL ORDER

¶1 The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which dismissed her alleged involuntary reassignment and reduction-in-pay appeal for lack of jurisdiction. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute

---

<sup>1</sup> A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117(c).

or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review and AFFIRM the initial decision, which is now the Board's final decision. 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113(b).

¶2 On petition for review, the appellant argues the merits of the agency's removal action and reasserts that she was involuntarily reassigned because she had no choice but to accept the reassignment or the agency would remove her from Federal service. Petition for Review (PFR) File, Tab 1. We find the appellant's arguments unavailing. The appellant made several allegations without evidence in support of her claim that her reassignment to a lower-graded position was involuntary. Id. at 17-22. She reiterates her bare assertions that she received successful performance appraisals and promotions, so the agency sustained its removal action without supporting evidence. Id.; Initial Appeal File (IAF), Tab 1 at 6, Tab 12 at 6-10. However, such pro forma allegations are insufficient to cast doubt on the voluntariness of her acceptance of a lower-graded position. See Harris v. Department of Veterans Affairs, 114 M.S.P.R. 239, ¶ 8 (2010). Thus, we agree with the administrative judge's finding that the appellant did not meet her burden to nonfrivolously allege that she was involuntarily reassigned to a lower-graded position. IAF, Tab 14, Initial Decision (ID) at 1, 8-9; Harris, 114 M.S.P.R. 239, ¶ 8; Reed v. U.S. Postal Service, 99 M.S.P.R. 453, ¶ 12 (2005), aff'd, 198 F. App'x 966 (Fed. Cir. 2006); Soler-Minardo v. Department of Defense, 92 M.S.P.R. 100, ¶ 6 (2002).

¶3 To the extent that the appellant argues that the agency committed harmful procedural errors and subjected her to disability discrimination, we also find that she cannot establish jurisdiction. PFR File, Tab 1 at 11-16. As the administrative judge found, in the absence of an otherwise appealable action, the Board lacks independent jurisdiction over such allegations. ID at 8-9; see Wren v. Department of the Army, 2 M.S.P.R. 1, 2 (1980), aff'd, 681 F.2d 867, 871-73 (D.C. Cir. 1982).

¶4 Therefore, we conclude that the administrative judge properly found that the appellant's allegations of coercion were insufficient to establish that her reassignment and reduction in pay were involuntary, and we find that the appellant's arguments on review are without merit. Accordingly, we affirm the administrative judge's finding that the Board lacks jurisdiction over the appeal.
