FINAL ORDER

The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which affirmed the Office of Personnel Management's (OPM) reconsideration decision concerning the calculation of her retirement annuity under the Civil Service Retirement System. On petition for review, the appellant argues only that the ¹A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117(c).

administrative judge “did not review all of the record[s] correctly.” Petition for Review (PFR) File, Tab 3 at 4. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge’s rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner’s due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review and AFFIRM the initial decision, which is now the Board’s final decision.² 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113(b).

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS³

You may obtain review of this final decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(a)(1). By statute, the nature of your claims determines the time limit for seeking such review and the appropriate forum with which to file. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b).

² Among other things, the appellant argued before the administrative judge that the agency miscalculated her service computation date, and thus her length of Federal service, for purposes of calculating her civil service retirement annuity. In making its calculations, OPM excluded periods of excessive leave without pay (LWOP) taken by the appellant during various years during her career. By law, retirement credit may not be allowed for periods of LWOP “as exceeds 6 months in the aggregate in a calendar year.” 5 U.S.C. § 8332(f). The appellant has not argued that the administrative judge erred in finding that the appellant took such excessive LWOP in 1998, 2003-2005, and 2007. Initial Appeal File (IAF), Tab 27, Initial Decision at 5; see IAF, Tab 15 at 9-10. Thus, the appellant has not shown error in OPM’s calculation of her service computation date for purposes of calculating her retirement annuity.

³ Since the issuance of the initial decision in this matter, the Board may have updated the notice of review rights included in final decisions. As indicated in the notice, the Board cannot advise which option is most appropriate in any matter.

Although we offer the following summary of available appeal rights, the Merit Systems Protection Board does not provide legal advice on which option is most appropriate for your situation and the rights described below do not represent a statement of how courts will rule regarding which cases fall within their jurisdiction. If you wish to seek review of this final decision, you should immediately review the law applicable to your claims and carefully follow all filing time limits and requirements. Failure to file within the applicable time limit may result in the dismissal of your case by your chosen forum.

Please read carefully each of the three main possible choices of review below to decide which one applies to your particular case. If you have questions about whether a particular forum is the appropriate one to review your case, you should contact that forum for more information.
