FINAL ORDER

¶1 The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which dismissed his individual right of action appeal for lack of jurisdiction. On petition for review, the appellant argues that the administrative judge did not consider his claim that the agency perceived him as a whistleblower due to his

¹ A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117(c).

February 26, 2021 Office of Special Counsel (OSC) complaint. Petition for Review (PFR) File, Tab 1.² Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review. Except as expressly MODIFIED to address the appellant's contention that the agency perceived him as a whistleblower, we AFFIRM the initial decision.

¶2 We have considered the appellant's claim that the agency perceived him as a whistleblower. However, he has not proven that he exhausted this claim with OSC. Indeed, his July 16, 2022 OSC complaint and OSC's September 13, 2022 letter advising him of his right to file a Board appeal do not mention or reference his earlier February 26, 2021 OSC complaint or his allegation that the agency perceived him as a whistleblower. Initial Appeal File, Tab 4 at 42-56. Because the appellant did not prove by preponderant evidence that he exhausted this claim with OSC, see Chambers v. Department of Homeland Security, 2022 MSPB 8,

² The appellant also attaches numerous documents to his petition for review, including his September 16, 2022 declaration made under penalty of perjury, the proposal and decision letters relating to an indefinite suspension, his discovery responses in the indefinite suspension appeal, the agency's July 8, 2022 letter, which returned him to administrative duties following the dismissal of the criminal matter, his July 16, 2022 OSC complaint, and OSC's September 13, 2022 letter. PFR File, Tab 1 at 7-59. However, this documentation is already in the record and is not new evidence. See Meier v. Department of the Interior, 3 M.S.P.R. 247, 256 (1980).

¶ 11, we need not decide whether he made a nonfrivolous allegation that the agency perceived him as a whistleblower or whether the agency's perception was a contributing factor in any personnel action, see King v. Department of the Army, 116 M.S.P.R. 689, ¶ 9 (2011).

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS³

The initial decision, as supplemented by this Final Order, constitutes the Board's final decision in this matter. 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113. You may obtain review of this final decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(a)(1). By statute, the nature of your claims determines the time limit for seeking such review and the appropriate forum with which to file. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b). Although we offer the following summary of available appeal rights, the Merit Systems Protection Board does not provide legal advice on which option is most appropriate for your situation and the rights described below do not represent a statement of how courts will rule regarding which cases fall within their jurisdiction. If you wish to seek review of this final decision, you should immediately review the law applicable to your claims and carefully follow all filing time limits and requirements. Failure to file within the applicable time limit may result in the dismissal of your case by your chosen forum.

Please read carefully each of the three main possible choices of review below to decide which one applies to your particular case. If you have questions about whether a particular forum is the appropriate one to review your case, you should contact that forum for more information.

(1) Judicial review in general. As a general rule, an appellant seeking judicial review of a final Board order must file a petition for review with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, which must be received by the court

This option applies to you only if you have claimed that you were affected by an action that is appealable to the Board and that such action was based, in whole or in part, on unlawful discrimination. If so, you may obtain judicial review of this decision—including a disposition of your discrimination claims—by filing a civil action with an appropriate U.S. district court (not the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit), within 30 calendar days after you receive this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b)(2); see Perry v. Merit Systems Protection Board, 582 U.S. 420 (2017). If you have a representative in this case, and your representative receives this decision before you do, then you must file with the district court no later than 30 calendar days after your representative receives this decision. If the action involves a claim of discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or a disabling condition, you may be entitled to representation by a court-appointed lawyer and to waiver of any requirement of prepayment of fees, costs, or other security. See 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(f) and 29 U.S.C. § 794a.

(3) Judicial review pursuant to the Whistleblower Protection Enhancement Act of 2012. This option applies to you only if you have raised claims of reprisal for whistleblowing disclosures under 5 U.S.C. § 2302(b)(8) or other protected activities listed in 5 U.S.C. § 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D). If so, and your judicial petition for review “raises no challenge to the Board’s disposition of allegations of a prohibited personnel practice described in section 2302(b) other than practices described in section 2302(b)(8), or 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D),” then you may file a petition for judicial review either with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.⁴ The court of appeals must receive your petition for review within 60 days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703(b)(1)(B).

⁴ The original statutory provision that provided for judicial review of certain whistleblower claims by any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction expired on December 27, 2017. The All Circuit Review Act, signed into law by the President on July 7, 2018, permanently allows appellants to file petitions for judicial review of MSPB decisions in certain whistleblower reprisal cases with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any other circuit court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.
