FINAL ORDER

The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which dismissed for lack of jurisdiction her appeal of an initial decision by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) regarding the calculation of her survivor annuity benefit. On petition for review, the appellant argues, among other things, that <sup>1</sup> A nonprecedential order is one that the Board has determined does not add significantly to the body of MSPB case law. Parties may cite nonprecedential orders, but such orders have no precedential value; the Board and administrative judges are not required to follow or distinguish them in any future decisions. In contrast, a precedential decision issued as an Opinion and Order has been identified by the Board as significantly contributing to the Board's case law. See 5 C.F.R. § 1201.117(c).

OPM has refused or improperly failed to issue a final decision on her survivor annuity benefits. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review and AFFIRM the initial decision, which is now the Board's final decision. 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113(b).

Generally, the Board has jurisdiction over OPM determinations affecting an appellant's rights and interests under Civil Service Retirement System only after OPM has issued a final decision in the matter. Morin v. Office of Personnel Management, 107 M.S.P.R. 534, ¶ 8 (2007), aff'd per curiam, 287 F. App'x 864 (Fed. Cir. 2008); see 5 U.S.C. § 8347(d)(1); 5 C.F.R. § 831.110. However, the Board will take jurisdiction over an appeal concerning a retirement matter in which OPM has refused or improperly failed to issue a final decision. Okello v. Office of Personnel Management, 120 M.S.P.R. 498, ¶ 14 (2014). OPM has not yet issued a final decision regarding the appellant's survivor annuity benefits but has indicated below that it intends to do so. Further, the appellant has not presented evidence demonstrating that OPM refused or improperly failed to issue a final decision regarding the matter. Accordingly, the Board does not have jurisdiction over this appeal.<sup>2</sup> See Morin, 107 M.S.P.R. 534, ¶ 8. However, the appellant may file a new Board appeal if, and when, OPM issues a final decision regarding her award of survivor benefits. See 5 C.F.R. §§ 831.109, 831.110.
