FINAL ORDER

The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which dismissed the appeal of his termination for lack of jurisdiction. On petition for review, the appellant makes the following arguments: (1) there is no evidence in the record that his appeal concerns either activity occurring while he was in a military pay status or his fitness for duty; (2) he lost his military membership because he was not allowed to reenlist, not because he was removed from the military; and (3) the action must be reversed because he was removed without due process. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Therefore, we DENY the petition for review. Except as expressly MODIFIED to address the application of Dyer v. Department of the Air Force, 971 F.3d 1377 (Fed. Cir. 2020), we AFFIRM the initial decision.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit's decision in Dyer v. Department of the Air Force, 971 F.3d 1377 (Fed. Cir. 2020), governs the outcome in this matter, even though the events in this matter predate the issuance of the Dyer decision. See Heartland By-Products, Inc. v. U.S., 568 F.3d 1360, 1365 (Fed. Cir. 2009) ("Under general principles of law, judicial decisions are given retroactive effect."); NV24-Keyport2 v. Department of the Navy, 123 M.S.P.R. 263, ¶ 22 (2016) (noting that the Board generally applies case law issued while an appeal is pending). In Dyer, the court recognized that the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 provided dual status technicians with the right to appeal some adverse actions, such as removals, to the Board. 32 U.S.C. § 709(f)(5); Dyer, 971 F.3d at 1382. However, this right is limited. Dyer, 971 F.3d at 1382. Specifically, section 709(f)(4) provides that personnel decisions that “concern[]” a dual status technician’s “fitness for duty in the reserve components” are appealable only to the adjutant general of the jurisdiction concerned. 32 U.S.C. § 709(f)(4), (g)(1).

The court in Dyer held that, under 32 U.S.C. § 709, “termination of dual-status employment . . . as the result of separation from the National Guard” necessarily concerns fitness for duty in the reserve components. Dyer, 971 F.3d at 1382-84 (citing 32 U.S.C. § 709(b), (f)(1)(A), (f)(4), (f)(6)). As a result, it concluded that the Board does not have jurisdiction over such a termination. Id. at 1384. Here, we find it undisputed that the Florida National Guard denied the appellant’s reenlistment as a result of him failing multiple fitness assessments. Initial Appeal File (IAF), Tab 10 at 5, 8, Tab 14, Initial Decision at 3, 5. Thereafter, the appellant was terminated because of his loss of military membership. IAF, Tab 10 at 12. Thus, under the court’s reasoning in Dyer, as well as the applicable statute, we find that the Board lacks jurisdiction over his termination. Accordingly, we affirm the administrative judge’s findings that the appellant’s appeal concerns his fitness for duty in the reserve components and that the Board consequently lacks jurisdiction over the appeal. See 32 U.S.C. § 709(f)(4).
