FINAL ORDER

¶1 The appellant has filed a petition for review of the initial decision, which affirmed his removal from the Federal service for three specifications of contemptuous behavior toward his supervisor. Generally, we grant petitions such as this one only in the following circumstances: the initial decision contains erroneous findings of material fact; the initial decision is based on an erroneous interpretation of statute or regulation or the erroneous application of the law to the facts of the case; the administrative judge's rulings during either the course of the appeal or the initial decision were not consistent with required procedures or involved an abuse of discretion, and the resulting error affected the outcome of the case; or new and material evidence or legal argument is available that, despite the petitioner's due diligence, was not available when the record closed. After fully considering the filings in this appeal, we conclude that the petitioner has not established any basis under section 1201.115 for granting the petition for review. Title 5 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 1201.115 (5 C.F.R. § 1201.115). Therefore, we DENY the petition for review and AFFIRM the initial decision, which is now the Board's final decision. 5 C.F.R. § 1201.113\(b\).

¶2 On petition for review, the appellant challenges the administrative judge's weighing of evidence regarding the charges and affirmative defenses, and he asserts that the administrative judge erred in excluding witness testimony. The Board generally will not disturb an administrative judge's conclusions when, as here, the initial decision reflects that the administrative judge considered the evidence as a whole, drew appropriate references, and made reasoned conclusions on issues of credibility. See Crosby v. U.S. Postal Service, 74 M.S.P.R. 98, 106 (1997); Broughton v. Department of Health & Human Services, 33 M.S.P.R. 357, 359 (1987). Mere disagreement with the administrative judge's reasoned and supported findings and credibility determinations, like those raised in the appellant's petition for review, will not warrant disturbing the initial decision, and we find no basis to do so here.² We also find no merit to the appellant's

² The administrative judge correctly determined that the appellant's allegation that his misconduct was provoked by the agency is not a defense to the charge. See Beaudoin v. Department of Veterans Affairs, 99 M.S.P.R. 489, ¶ 14 (2005). Provocation is a consideration in the penalty determination. Id. The initial decision reflects that the administrative judge concluded that the alleged provocation did not excuse the appellant's conduct. ID at 18 (considering the appellant's "visceral reaction" to his argument that the administrative judge excluded witness testimony. Petition for Review File, Tab 1 at 6. The appellant withdrew his request for a hearing and the administrative judge considered each of the three witness statements submitted by the appellant with his close of record submission. Initial Appeal File, Tab 30, Tab 35, Initial Decision at 7, 12, 20. Accordingly, we deny the petition for review and affirm the initial decision.

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS³

You may obtain review of this final decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(a\)\(1\). By statute, the nature of your claims determines the time limit for seeking such review and the appropriate forum with which to file. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\). Although we offer the following summary of available appeal rights, the Merit Systems Protection Board does not provide legal advice on which option is most appropriate for your situation and the rights described below do not represent a statement of how courts will rule regarding which cases fall within their jurisdiction. If you wish to seek review of this final decision, you should immediately review the law applicable to your claims and carefully follow all filing time limits and requirements. Failure to file within the applicable time limit may result in the dismissal of your case by your chosen forum.

Please read carefully each of the three main possible choices of review below to decide which one applies to your particular case. If you have questions about whether a particular forum is the appropriate one to review your case, you should contact that forum for more information.

supervisor), 20 (finding that supervisory inquiries into his work progress and other events did not evince a hostile work environment). Further, we have fully considered the appellant's allegations and evidence in this regard and find that the penalty was reasonable despite any alleged provocation. See Beaudoin, 99 M.S.P.R. 489, ¶ 22.

(1) Judicial review in general. As a general rule, an appellant seeking judicial review of a final Board order must file a petition for review with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, which must be received by the court within 60 calendar days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(1\)\(A\).

(2) Judicial or EEOC review of cases involving a claim of discrimination. This option applies to you only if you have claimed that you were affected by an action that is appealable to the Board and that such action was based, in whole or in part, on unlawful discrimination. If so, you may obtain judicial review of this decision—including a disposition of your discrimination claims—by filing a civil action with an appropriate U.S. district court (not the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit), within 30 calendar days after you receive this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(2\); see Perry v. Merit Systems Protection Board, 582 U.S. ____ , 137 S. Ct. 1975 (2017). If you have a representative in this case, and your representative receives this decision before you do, then you must file with the district court no later than 30 calendar days after your representative receives this decision. If the action involves a claim of discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or a disabling condition, you may be entitled to representation by a court-appointed lawyer and to waiver of any requirement of prepayment of fees, costs, or other security. See 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5\(f\) and 29 U.S.C. § 794a.

If you have a representative in this case, and your representative receives this decision before you do, then you must file with the EEOC no later than 30 calendar days after your representative receives this decision.

P.O. Box 77960
Washington, D.C. 20013

Equal Employment Opportunity Commission
131 M Street, N.E.
Suite 5SW12G

If so, and your judicial petition for review “raises no challenge to the Board’s disposition of allegations of a prohibited personnel practice described in section 2302(b) other than practices described in section 2302(b)(8), or 2302(b)(9)(A)(i), (B), (C), or (D),” then you may file a petition for judicial review either with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or any court of appeals of competent jurisdiction.⁴ The court of appeals must receive your petition for review within 60 days of the date of issuance of this decision. 5 U.S.C. § 7703\(b\)\(1\)\(B\).
